

Christian Coach Orientation

2 Part Teleclass Series

This teleclass series consists of two, hour-long orientation / training sessions that will cover your most pressing questions including those below. There is space provided to write an additional or follow-up question. Also, you will find an area where to make notes for a scenario you can offer if you wish to volunteer for coaching during one of these sessions.

PART I

1. What sort of training is required to become a Christian life coach?

A. What type of education and experience is required to become a Christian life coach?

2. What does the Bible say about the type of training Christians should receive?

3. What do I need to know about a coaching school's credentials or accreditation?

4. What special licensing or governmental regulation applies to this profession?

5. What expenses should I anticipate when I set up my coaching practice?

6. Am I required to carry any professional insurance?

7. What is the difference between coaching and counseling?

8. What is the difference between Christian coaching and secular coaching?

PART II

9. How can I begin charging coaching fees even before I am certified?

10. What are some creative ways to pay for Christian coach training?

11. How do I become a Master Christian life coach?

12. Do you feel called to a ministry, business or both?

13. How is the Christian coaching profession affected by the current state of the economy?

FOLLOW-UP OR OTHER QUESTION FOR Q & A (IF TIME ALLOWS).

VOLUNTEER FOR COACHING

You will have the opportunity to volunteer to be coached during an orientation session. In order to be prepared when prompted, be ready to offer a scenario that you would like coaching on.

To ensure you are offering a coachable situation, it must be something you have direct control over. You need to be able to make the decisions needed or implement the changes required, in order to move forward.

Be prepared to describe the situation and how it affects you. Then offer the desired goal or outcome.

NOTES:

SPECIAL OFFER FOR ATTENDEES:

Those who have attended the two sessions will receive the opportunity to redeem a special offer at the conclusion of this program. (Our telephone bridge line system assists us in taking attendance.)